FROM WITHIN

The Greenhouse

The sunny greenhouse, custodian of luxuriant palms and ferns for festive occasions.

The Library

The library, concealing a staff of lovely assistants, peers from behind its leafy camouflage.

The Water Fountain

Strategically placed between the main building and the library, this multi-purpose retreat obligingly serves all comers, from students to thirsty chipmunks. Too public for summer romancing.

Reflection Pool

An unusual rear-view of the amphitheater featuring the fabled reflection pool. In the spring golden daffodils suddenly appear to encircle its cool and placid surface. Fine for "pooling" unruly persons.

Third Barracks

The third barracks basks in a flood of sunshine. Grassy lawn doubles as playground.

ADMINIST

RATION

TILLMAN HALL, known as the Main Building, is the center of all activities. From beginning to end we pay homage to this mecca. Behind its walls such offices as the President's, Commandant's and Treasurer's are entrenched. The Chapel, located in the right wing, also functions as theater and auditorium. The basement harbors The Tiger, our weekly newspaper.

THE PRESIDENT

Composed and serene as his name would indicate, Dr. R. F. Poole, our president, stands amongst us as steadfastly as Clemson itself. For the past nine years his dextrous hand has adroitly directed Clemson in its rise to prominence. It is he who greets the incoming freshman with a welcome handshake, and who launches graduates into the world. It is he to whom students turn for action on their age-old complaints.

No one can contest his fitness for the position, for as a Clemson graduate, Dr. Poole learned the problems of the students; returning as president, his intimate acquaintance with these problems enable him to cope with them expertly.

Without infinite patience, tact, and the desire to contribute to humanity, Dr. Poole would have succumbed long ago to the burden of his post. All eyes focus upon him as he balances the delicate scales between student and administration. The responsibility of correct decision and ensuing action is his, along with any other uncertain honors that might accompany it.

Only meager acknowledgment can we offer to this individual of distinguished merit. May his gentle rule extend far beyond our transient period at Clemson.

A front shot of our "front" man; who else but jovial President Poole, the most photographed man on the campus.

Dr. D. W. Daniel, Governor Strom Thurmond, and President R. F. Poole withdraw to a secluded corner for a three sided conference. Dr. Daniel starts the ball rolling, but how long can he keep the floor?

President and Mrs. Poole in a familiar stance, shaking hands, but with the Honorary Cadet Colonel, Miss Betty Byrd of Kingstree, South Carolina. Get in that line boys!

THE ADMINISTRATION

BUSINESS MANAGER

Mr. J. C. Littlejohn, business manager, figures out ways to keep the college out of the red, or to avoid world politics, in the black.

REGISTRAR

Mr. G. E. Metz, registrar, handles our records and specifies how many extra credits we may schedule, if any. Some people do.

TREASURER

Mr. A. J. Brown, treasurer, has a trusted position. Keeping tab on thousands of students is a never ending task.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES DIRECTOR

Mr. G. H. Hill, director of students' activities, lends a helping hand to the school publications and such in his dual rôle as assistant business manager.

OFFICERS AND BOARD

BOARD OF DEANS AND DIRECTORS

Here they are, the unseen counselors of Clemson. From every school and department they are recruited for discussions which result in variations and improvements within the college. Reading left to right: K. N. Vickery, D. W. Watkins, H. L. Hunter, J. C. Littlejohn, H. P. Cooper, S. B. Earle, A. J. Brown, F. M. Kinard, W. H. Washington, R. D. Crosby, R. A. McGinty, R. F. Poole.

MORE ADMINISTRATION "WHEELS"

r. K. N. Vickery, assistant registrar, handles e IBM machine like a true business man.

Mr. H. H. Hill, Jr., manager of the housing project, figures how to cram them into the pre-fabs.

Mr. J. G. Lindsay, mess officer, studies the month's bills closely with an eye to dollars and cents.

K. N. Vickery, assistant registrar, tries to smooth out the wrinkles in this year's registration scramble. Ray Crow watches approvingly as the time cards are distributed.

Miss Margaret Crowther, attractive dietitian, makes sure that we don't get iced-tea on winter days.

Maruja Crowther, pretty stenographer, bu her face in a mass of paperwork. Too b to look up, Maru?

TIME IN . . .

Dr. H. L. Hunter looks inquiringly at an unidentified object while Miss Virginia Shanklin watches attentively. The ears belong to Tom Milford. The occasion is the opening of the new Alpha Phi Omega room. It looks wide open, too.

iss Virginia Poole and Mr. W. D. Trevillian iscuss the economic situation in the Tiger otherhood room. Is it that funny?

Professor M. C. Bell isn't finding his mathematics very helpful in construction work. You can't push a wheelbarrow with logarithms.

Mr. Metz and Earl Morris put their heads together for some serious thought. What can they be up to now? See next year's Taps.

. . . AND TIME OUT

Lt. Colonel R. D. Crosby, Colonel W. S. Morris, and Lt. Colonel Russell Smith could be considering the military, but it seems unlikely, considering the surroundings and additional guests. Bet they don't do all the talking at this session.

THE SENIOR COUNCIL

F. I. GILLESPIE
President

No worthwhile organization or institution can exist without a certain amount of strictly enforced discipline. The Senior Council, composed of eleven members, four ex-officio by their positions as senior class officers and seven other senior class members elected by the student body as a whole, with the senior class president acting as chairman of the council, furnishes this discipline for Clemson.

First organized for the enforcement of discipline, this organization has by no means restricted itself to this sole service. The Senior Council serves as a connecting link between the student body and the administration. Many worthwhile suggestions have been offered and accepted by this two-way combination. Compliments to the Senior Council for their rôle in keeping the veteran-cadet factor running smoothly.

Fair consideration is given to all parties or situations presented to this body for judgment and it is seldom that the students, taken as a whole, disagree with the actions of the Senior Council.

Congratulations on a "job well done".

THE BLUE KEY

Rated tops among honor, leadership and service organizations is the Blue Key, a National fraternity. It is toward this reward that the hopes and ideals of many a student are directed.

Since its inception, Blue Key has rendered invaluable service to Clemson. In the coordination of campus life, the welfare of the student is a first and foremost goal. A program with the purpose of bettering relations between Clemson and its athletic rivals has been in the experimental stage for the past two years, with results in cooperation far exceeding all expectations. It is an ideal for which a solution has long been sought by current students and former members of our "Alma Mater".

The Blue Key Directory, an annual publication containing students' names, room numbers, home addresses, and course of study is one of the most helpful services performed by the fraternity. The Directory is not only of use throughout the school year, but it is available for years as a reference to the addresses of many friends accumulated in college.

TIGER BROTHERHOOD

E. M. RALLINGS
President

A number of welcome changes on the Clemson campus have been effected by our own Tiger Brotherhood, an organization founded in 1928 by a group of student leaders and faculty members as a service and leadership fraternity.

Its purpose is to act as a sponsor of tolerance and integrity among Clemson men. Members are gathered from all four classes: freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior, because of their outstanding qualities of character, leadership, and scholarship.

In addition to instigating a campus-wide clean-up campaign, the Brotherhood this year obtained lockers for day students and performed numerous other small services to the college.

During pledge week, entertainment is furnished by the initiates for the club members and school in the form of a parade through the mess hall and about the school attired in original costumes, but this has come to be expected of almost all organizations and everyone thoroughly enjoys himself.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

W. E. DARBY
President

Composed of men with the earnest desire to be of service to their fellow students, faculty, and community is the Gamma Lambda Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, first organized at Clemson October 6, 1936.

Prerequisite to membership in this organization is former membership in the Boy Scouts of America. In addition to this, the prospective member must have shown active interest in earlier college activities and be recognized for his strength of character, integrity, and sincere longing to assume leadership. New members are selected and voted on at the beginning of each semester.

Alpha Phi Omega has many worthwhile projects to its credit since the chapter was first organized. A few of its beneficial services in the past few years are a relief program to Europe for the needy, a booklet of club information, desk blotters for all students, and many other useful services both to the campus and community. Other interesting and helpful programs are on the agenda of this organization and it is with the greatest of interest and optimism that the school looks forward to their completion.

ACADE

MICS

Majestic Rigg's Hall, retreat of engineers and architects alike.

THE SCHOOL OF

ENGINEERING

No more tinkering with alarm-clocks and Model-T's. At Clemson, rain or shine, the Engine House teems with mechanical aptitude, and these boys mean business!

Subjecting oneself to "Sterno" Fernow's stormy course in steam has become a must among mechanical engineers, in addition to trivialties like thermodynamics and aerodynamics.

Expeditions sponsored daily by Will Clark of the Civil Engineering Department trek over the campus to survey its grounds.

After a spell in the Department of Electrical Engineering, a man can run home and repair the electric toaster and lamp plugs with impunity. S. R. Rhodes supplies the equipment to practice on.

The Chemical Engineering Department begins where chemistry leaves off. Heat flow and evaporation can be frustratingly elusive.

High in Rigg's Hall the architecturally inclined students labor over a rendering or working-drawing. A little spice is added in the form of air-brushing by Gilmer Petroff or Art under the "Saint".

Add them all together and its spells W-O-R-K, which is a requisite in any field.

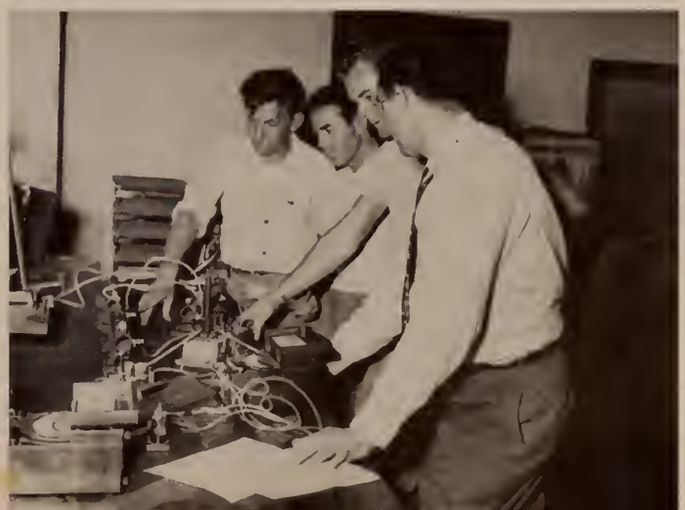
Dean S. B. Earle does a remarkable job of keeping in touch with the vast School of Engineering.

Mr. Byars, the demon of graphic statics, gives Kelly a few pointers on forces in camelback trusses.

Carmichael explains the intricacies of one of the most important phases of engineering—mechanics.

Critiquing the handiwork of talented seniors is a popular pastime among those on the way up.

Professor Kersey demonstrating some applications to electrical apparatus. Look at the wires!



The roar of whirling machinery discloses the huge School of Textiles.

TEXTILES

New equipment, and lots of it, keeps Clemson in the lead among textile schools, both in size and quality. With the location of many new textile corporations almost on the campus, it is but a short jump from student to employee; a convenient arrangement.

Textile chemists spend so much time in the chemistry building that they are often mistaken for chem. majors, and with good cause. The "Czar" doles out helpful hints on the chemistry of dyeing to new arrivals, and Mr. Lindsay takes it from there to add the final touches. It's a colorful profession!

The engineering phase is a different matter. It embraces everything from kinetics and statics to heat power. "Dog" Curtiss throws students the bone in the engine house.

Textile management covers a multitude of sins, from Campbell's costing to microscopy under Doc Heyn. Figuring inventory, budgets, and wage scales must be mastered before assuming the position of mill foreman or manager. No wonder the lintheads seldom stop for a quick flick of the whiskbroom.

Dean H. M. Brown finds keeping tabs on the huge School of Textiles a full-time job.

It's Jack Reid running that loom, and all by himself. It takes close attention to watch all of those threads at once.

Byrd and Barnet do a little drawing while Carson tests it for size.

It's a field day at the spinning machine. Everybody wants to get in the act.

Long Hall, where agriculture is transformed into a specialized art.

AGRICULTURE

First mentioned in the will of Thomas G. Clemson, the Agricultural School has developed into one of the best in the country. Under the patient and instructive guidance of such men as "Big Ben" Goodale, "Lord" Collins, "Breazy" Breazeale, "Frog" Ware, and many others, the old time "dirt" farmer has been replaced by men of science who obtain everything the soil has to offer and still save it for their heirs and assigns forever.

Busy Ag. Engineers spend many days in the "Engine House" as well as the Agricultural Building. Doc Aull keeps his "Ag. Ec." boys "in the traces" with intricate curves and designs. The Poultry Department offers a very good course in "Chickenology" with encores from "Chicken" Morgan, and "Jib" Cooper. That little square building by the amphitheater furnishes ice cream as well as "future" dairymen to the country.

Overall supervision is furnished by Dean Cooper. His is the job to synchronize the operation of the entire school, and with the help of a earnest and well trained staff this is accomplished with remarkable efficiency.

Active Dean H. P. Cooper shares his time with the Agricultural Experiment Station.

Watch it, bud, or that specimen might jump out from under the microscope and bite you. Let's close that book, too!

Rough as courses may be, we still don't have to work evenings. It's Senior Night.

Zoology lab and the study of the earthworm, the farmer's friend, take up a good afternoon, eh Theo?

Who's telling the jokes today? It could be that Breazeale is running a fat test.

In the Physics Building minds digest ideas which result in mechanical surprises.

ARTS AND SCIENCES

This is indeed the school that furnishes a well-rounded education. Here undergraduates obtain a smattering of the "worth-while" things of life. Many go on to graduate work in their individual fields.

First it's Government under "Skeeter" Webb, Freshman English under McGee, and that inevitable Stanley for "trig" or analytics. Those who get by this first barricade are in line for the "ogre" of them all in "Doc" Sheldon's calculus. Sophomore literature under "The Little Devil" and Doc Taylor carries a lot of weight where ever Clemson men gather. Trevillian gives out with facts and figures in economics, and while we're in the library let's journey up to "Influence" Waites' "three ringed circus" in psychology. Every A. and S. boy, at one time or another, schedules John Lane for an English course. Dean Kinard's "Selected Masterpieces" fills in the vacancies left by other "Lit" courses and the Physics Department with Huff, Lindsay, and "Tommie" Turner is a must for all graduates.

All in all these boys are prepared for "come what may". Be it graduate work in fields of medicine, law, or teaching, their foundation of learning is well established.

Amicable Dean F. M. Kinard offers students more than just the technical college courses.

Prof. Rutledge leads a group of would-be Botanist through an anatomy study of a tomato. (The type that grows in the garden, however.)

Like adolescence, everyone goes through physics lab. This time it's the rope and pulley experiment.

Ma Owings leads his budding Romantist through the mysticism of Blake. Romanticism at 8:00 A. M.? Hardly!

You're right, it's a frog under the scalpel. Does the formaldehyde make your eyes burn, Dukes?

The Chemistry Building incloses a wealth of scientific information.

CHEMISTRY

After consulting our Baedeker, we find ourselves in the freshly painted chemistry building. That new asphalt floor does reduce the creaking, but what can be done about the ever-present odor of hydrogen-sulfide (as in rotten eggs)?

That smiling face in the first office on the right? No less than Dean H. L. Hunter, the perennial plague of the freshmen. As a rule he is bustling about the building, checking up. Directly across the hall is the habitat of Dr. Frank Schirmer, who lectures on quantum mechanics and the elements.

From the lower floor the "Little Lehrer", Mike Brownley, sends students chasing after diesel roadscrapers for gas samples to analyze. Upstairs to Doc Mitchell's Kjedahl processing of fertilizers and limestone analysis.

Dr. Pollard is the nemesis of the chem major. First physical, then colloid chemistry. (For some it's first physical, then physical again.)

No branch of chemistry can be bypassed, as all combine to give us added luxuries in this wavering world of today.

Jovial Dean H. L. Hunter is never too engrossed to stop and chat with a student.

Steam distillation is often used by chemistry and premedical students throughout their course in organic chemistry.

George and Jo-jo trying to catch up in advanced quan. lab. Only one to a desk, boys, and don't burn that crucible.

Caught working by the forbidden "cookbook" method! That odd instrument is a separator.

The Education Building is a proving ground for future leaders and teachers.

THE SCHOOL OF

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

Planning to enter the teaching profession? Well, this is just the school for you, for every graduation day, we find that old production line well represented with future high school and college professors of the nation.

The first year is spent "boning up" on such basic subjects as botany under Whitney, "Rat" chemistry with "Smiley" Brownley, and English and math. in their respective departments. The sophomore year looks like a combination engineering, pre-med, and chemistry major as "the boys" delve into such "toughies" as calculus, "qual. and quan.", and physics. It is in the junior year that the actual major is approached in such courses as education, psychology, and vocational education. These boys really get a taste of everything as "Junior" McGarity dishes out with music appreciation and M. St. Hubert explains that art appreciation until we actually like it. These senior boys have really arrived when they go out into the neighboring schools teaching and learning how to teach by actual experience.

W. H. Washington, Dean of the School of Vocational Education, irons out a new problem.

Some folk take it up as a hobby, but photography in the darkroom of the "Ag." building is more serious in this instance.

A moment of suspense as the molds are checked for fit before pouring in the filler.

Even more serious, at least to these men, is the process of casting dyes down in forge and foundry. Looks hot!

E. J. Freeman . . . "Musical Ed" . . . grades by the slide-rule . . . methodical to an extreme . . . brilliant in his field . . . exponent of gear cutting and blade angles.

B. H. Hodges . . . "Bax" . . . a diligent professor . . . works hard trying to pound chemistry into freshmen . . . jolly by nature . . . easy conversationalist.

J. C. Green . . . "Dude" . . . willing to aid needy students any day in the week . . . dapper . . . partial to flashy neckties . . . wears a coat winter and summer.

CHARACTERS

A. C. Menius . . . "Buck" . . . jokster . . . talks on a high plane . . . easy to get along with . . . heavy smoker . . . a whiz on the electron microscope . . . well-versed in atomic and nuclear physics . . . can juggle a mean mathematics equation.

W. E. Tarrant . . . "Crowfoot" . . . great psychologist . . . (in textiles???) . . . likes neatness in students . . . hates impudence . . . thinks students should be seen and not heard.

R. E. Ware . . . "Frog" . . . opinions on any subject . . . dabbles in astronomy . . . collects tropical fish and guns . . . bands birds . . . lectures on the political situation . . . gives rough quizzes.

J. P. Brewster . . . "Speedy" . . . ladies man . . . works with chalk in one hand and eraser in the other . . . efficient . . . big joker . . . golf addict . . . a word for every one.

F. H. Pollard . . . "Doc" . . . bachelor . . very intelligent . . . makes that physica chemistry "ruff" . . . believes in lots of harc work.

IN OUR MIDST

R. L. Saint-Hubert . . . "The Saint" . . . an amiable Frenchman . . . moves the troops to greater artistic endeavor with his quaint speech and his Americanized jokes about les belles femmes.

E. L. Clarke . . . "Will" . . . most sincere . . . great story teller . . . really believes in his seniors . . . always rushing for time . . . doesn't like jokes . . . plays no favorites.

G. C. FANT
Vice-President

First organized in 1897 at The University of Maine, Phi Kappa Phi was initiated on the Clemson campus in 1938. The men in this organization represent the scholars of the campus. The outstanding requirement for admission is to be in the upper eighth of the senior class and to have maintained a G.P.R. of 6.5 or better.

The chief goals of the chapter are the promotion of good feeling and high ideals and the stimulation of learning in competition.

Phi Kappa Phi is the greatest scholastic honor that is offered at Clemson, and a magnetic ideal for its students. Those who make Phi Kappa Phi are necessarily destined to design the world of tomorrow, but a great deal of prestige and recognition is due them for their perseverance and hard work. These are indeed the men to be observed in their future fields of endeavor.

MIXING THE MOLECULES

Maybe you've observed certain individuals walking around the campus with bottles of colored water around their necks. For your information they are initiates of Alpha Chi Sigma, national honorary chemical fraternity. This organization, having 53 collegiate chapters and 29 professional chapters, is one of the largest of its kind in America.

AXE strives to include those men of outstanding character and chemical ability into a fellowship in which they can exchange ideas and views on different phases of their common field of study. Many interesting programs and demonstrations are included for the benefit and education of its members. Professional members, often invited in as speakers, present varied and interesting ideas on the professional fields of chemistry.

Like other fraternities AXE is the tie that binds its brothers together. Many warm and lasting friendships are made among the members and contact is kept with former members who have graduated and gone before to join the throng of modern alchemists throughout the world.

ARTISTRY IN CONSTRUCTION

Composed of a selected group of architects at Clemson who are tops in scholarship, personality, and strength of character are the Minarets. This organization was first introduced to give promising young architects a common ground on which to exchange ideas of their profession. In addition the club sponsors educational lectures, art exhibits, and demonstrations of architectural and engineering accomplishments for the interest and education of its members.

The purpose of the Minarets is to promote the standards of the department and to bring into closer fellowship the members of the organization. Many former members, now practicing building and landscape architects, interior decorators, and contractors, are invited in to present programs of interest.

Though professional in nature the social side of fraternity life is not neglected. For the enjoyment and entertainment of the brothers, banquets, intermission parties, and supper meetings are given and are greatly enjoyed by all who attend.

What's the problem this time, Grey? Don't make any drastic decisions alone. See Wilkes first.

Praise Allah! Towel turbans and bathrobes become the uniform of the day for Minaret initiates. The boxes hold offerings to appease the hungry gods.

MECHANICAL MINDED

Observe these men closely because they have been chosen to receive the highest honor of the engine house, Tau Beta Pi. This does not necessarily guarantee success for them, but to be pledged by Tau Beta Pi is no temporary mark of distinction and will not fade with the passing years.

A member of this organization must possess desirable traits of character as well as abilities of leadership. In addition to the above the student must be a senior in civil, mechanical, or electrical engineering and must be in the upper fourth of his class as to scholastic standing. A large quantity of native intelligence and just plain hard work are prerequisites to membership in this national honorary fraternity. It is to this goal that tired engineers look when the going gets rough and to those men that are actually pledged—the heartiest kind of congratulations.

FOR FARMERS

No reward is too great for the man who spends his life in the instruction of our country's youth. The trend in years gone by has been quite the contrary for teachers of the nation. Their compensations have been small and their work tedious and long.

The Kappa chapter of Alpha Tau Alpha, national honorary agricultural education fraternity, was organized at Clemson in 1930. The goal of the chapter is to establish brotherhood and unity between those men who show promise of becoming agricultural education leaders of tomorrow.

The student chapter of The American Institute of Electrical Engineers was organized at Clemson to give student electrical engineers the opportunity to work together, and thereby to exchange ideas on various phases of their life work. The ultimate goal of this organization is to maintain a high professional standing among its members, and to further the individual development of the engineer.

Presented in the form of programs and field trips are: the visiting of places of engineering interest, presentation of interesting papers, reports, and abstracts, and the all importance of making contacts with leading men in the field of electrical engineering.

MECHANIZED FARMERS

A. S. A. E.

First organized at Clemson in 1931, the American Society of Agricultural Engineers has been of real help to its members. The chapter invites many informative speakers and agricultural experts to guide and advise its members. In this way members are kept posted on the latest developments and events of interest in the field of Agricultural Engineering. Working together on various programs and projects, the AE student learns the value of teamwork. Scholarship and development of character and personality are prerequisites to membership.

Founded in 1852, The American Society of Civil Engineers is the oldest National Engineering Society in America. The purpose of the organization is the maintenance of a high professional standing among its members, the advancement of engineering and architectural facts to its members, and the encouragement of fellowship and cooperation between its members.

Membership is limited to sophomores, juniors, and seniors majoring in Civil Engineering who possess a satisfactory grade point ratio, personality, and character.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers was first organized at Clemson with the purpose of binding together student engineers who meet the standard requirements of scholarship, personality, and character. The members of the chapter are honored with the best speakers, demonstrations, and lectures that the field of mechanical engineering can produce.

The Clemson chapter is composed of juniors and seniors in mechanical engineering. The meetings give the member the opportunity to develop initiative and the ability to express his ideas—a necessary element in the training of every good executive.

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY CLUB

H. FALLS
President

The Animal Husbandry Club was organized in 1932 in order that the students interested in that field might benefit together from mutual understanding and pertinent advice offered by the faculty at regular meetings. At these meetings the members are introduced to the latest innovations in this phase of agriculture.

Often new ideas are brought out which prove to be very beneficial, such as recent developments in genetics and livestock feeding. Once the science of genetics was almost unheard of, but today the farmer would be lost without it.

Future years will undoubtedly bring unheard of improvements by the very men pictured on these pages.

HORTICULTURE CLUB

Jack Clegg designs a country garden. Just a rough sketch, you know, but it will have to do. Who will pay the water bill on that plantation?

Increased quality and quantity in production is the goal of the Horticulture Club. This organization came into being in order to create and further interest in horticultural subjects among students. As to membership requirements this club is not like the other professional units in that any student who is interested in joining, no matter what his course of study, he may do so. Reactivated last year under the guidance of Professor Sefick, the horticulture club is off to a fine start toward its ultimate goal.

The year 1949 sees the peak of postwar inflation. Will prices hold up, increase, or subside? Such questions as these arise before the members of the Economics Club during their meetings and forums. Even world affairs are not overlooked by these future economists and statisticians.

Manufacturers and agriculturalists are depending more and more upon the predictions of economists as related to their respective businesses, as judicious reasoning can change our standard of living.

MECHANIZED ATOMS

CHEMICAL ENGINEERS

Until last year, the Department of Chemical Engineering was closely connected with the School of Chemistry. Because of the vast increase in enrollment, and a resultant expansion in the School of Chemistry, it was deemed feasible to devote a department completely to chemical engineering.

The Clemson Society of Chemical Engineers was subsequently organized to encourage fellowship among the members and to present the practical aspects of the profession to them.

SENIOR CLASS

OFFICERS

At this time we pause to bid a fond farewell to the grand old seniors of the class of '49. Theirs has been a long and rocky path but at last the great day approaches and they are ready. The size of this graduating class is unparalleled in the history of Clemson College. Some of these men started in Clemson way back in the late thirties, and others, uninterrupted by the nation's call to arms, began only four short years ago. Veteran or cadet, farmer or engineer, we once again bid you farewell. All the luck, happiness, and success in the world to these men who have become brothers of the greatest fraternity on earth—"The Men of Clemson".

President

CLASS OF 1950

We are jolly juniors indeed as we stop to realize that we are well past the half-way mark with sweet victory in sight. Many times along that narrow and stony path we feared our end was near, but now with the junior year coming to an end the situation is much brighter and the possibility of our being included in the class of 1950 is much better.

May we never forget our first Junior-Senior and those all-exciting politics of the Spring elections. The new must replace the old as is the normal course of human events and it is indeed with joyous and exciting pleasure that we step into the vacant and waiting shoes of the men who have gone before us.

Left to Right: W. P. ROBERTS, President; A. H. McLAURIN, Vice-President; R. F. RAYLE, Secretary-Treasurer; A. M. SUGGS, Historian.

President

CLASS OF 1951

All good things must come to an end, so ends a year of revelation, sophistication, and real down to earth enjoyment. For the first time you observed a meeker bunch of Freshmen than your class could ever have been and mighty juniors and seniors were reduced to the size of normal human beings. Now you know what really makes the old "alma mater" hum. Congratulations on a splendid past and best wishes for continued success in your future at Clemson. May the rest of your college days contain only enough clouds to form a beautiful sunset.

CLASS OF 1952

Freshmen are easily distinguished by their closely shaven heads, awkward salutes, and mysterious faces. Tomorrow is the day they are building for . . . the day they will become upperclassmen. Where those before them have sown well, they will reap well; where they have sown poorly, the freshmen will plow and sow again. As each graduating class leaves, it dedicates the principles, institutions, and traditions to the incoming freshmen. It is during this formative period, the freshman year, that each freshman is adapted to college life in pursuit of an honorable occupation. It is here that a spirit of freedom, equality, and tolerance is created.

What A Life!

Pity the veteran. He has to turn in his own laundry.

WE WORKED . . .

Oh, this freshman life! Party, party, party!

A shiny rifle for Saturday inspection pays off.

Today's pain will turn into tomorrow's pleasure. Ouch!

Remove the uniform and what have you? Dirty clothes!

. . . AND WE HAD GOOD TIMES

MILIT

ARY

SABERS AND STRIPES...

"Give this man 10 demerits for dirty rifle", says the platoon leader.

Day is done and gone the sun and by golly long roll is held to keep the men briefed on the latest poop.

The corps is about to be released after a brief drill exhibition at homecoming. Now to see the Tigers beat Duquesne after trying to locate dates in the stands.

One against many . . . drowns his own reflection. Watch your beds men.

Grinning J. T. and the other platoon members anticipate their drill.

For once Bill Moore is not politicin', but is keeping the troops sharp.

. . . CHEERS AND GRIPES

Carrot Top keeps order at the staff table.

A typical barracks bull session.

Our calm and understanding commandant, Col. W. S. Morris, takes time out.

MILITARY ADMIN

THE COMMANDANT

As soon as our practical military instruction began, we began to realize the importance of the commandant and his staff. These are the men who direct and supervise the Military Science instruction and maintain discipline within the corps. Their expert guidance has enabled us to gain a lasting and effective knowledge of the subjects presented, which are essential to the pursuit of a successful military reserve commission. The transition from the wartime course to the peacetime was but another enormous task effected smoothly and efficiently by these men of the commandant's staff.

It is only through this efficiency in the administration of the corps that leads our unit to high R. O. T. C. honors every year. For the second consecutive year Clemson has been one of the few schools in the country to be acclaimed superior by the army area inspection team.

Below: Sgt. Zorens checks another permit.

Coffee time at the president's reception . . . Capt. Smith and Major Foster, members of the commandant's staff and military instructors.

ISTRATION AND SCHOOL

Good for Capt. Anderson . . . It's his wife. He's our army adjutant.

A sigh of relief from the platoon . . . for it's all over for them. One of Clemson's chief publicity mediums.

Top Row, Left to Right: SGT. H. P. HANSON, SGT. R. MARLOWE, CPL. W. H. SCOVIL. Second Row: T/SGT. T. E. FRIAS, SGT./ICL. R. J. HESSEL, SGT./ICL. T. M. HUTSON, SGT./ICL. J. A. JOHNSON, JR., SGT./ICL. E. F. McDOUGALL. Third Row: M/SGT. H. W. RIMMER, M/SGT. H. W. RUSSEY, IST/SGT. J. L. ZORENS, SGT./ICL. O. A. BASSETT; SGT./ICL. E. L. SOX, T/SGT. B. O. DAVIS. Fourth Row: CAPT. W. E. SMITH, IST/LT. A. C. JAMES, M/SGT. W. T. DAVIS, M/SGT. H. M. GELINA, M/SGT. R. E. GRUNEWALD, IST/SGT. H. H. MEDLOCK. Fifth Row: LT. COL. E. C. WATSON, CAPT. W. L. BYNUM, CAPT. G. E. COAKLEY, CAPT. E. S. CRONIN, CAPT. R. L. GRAMLING, CAPT. G. W. HEUNERS, CAPT. D. A. NAUCK. Bottom Row: COL. W. S. MORRIS, LT. COL. R. B. SMITH, LT. COL. R. D. CROSBY, MAJ. W. E. BYERTS, MAJ. C. D. FOSTER, MAJ. W. F. HALL, MAJ. T. K. MYERS.

MILITARY SCIENCE

Learning is a stubborn process . . . even in Military Science. Those mountains in the background look more interesting.

The Signal class gets a little of the practical. Say it's complicated Bonnoitt, or is it you?

Capt. Coakley exposes the frosh to the M-1. I guess it's here to stay.

Air Force's Major Myers keeps his class abreast of the times.

War is complicated and so are these classes. Ask anyone who knows.

Our esteemed colonel shows the other engineers the score. Liles has his hands in everything. These are our potential bridge builders in the army of tomorrow.

What's wrong? Can't you hear, Hardwick? Or is it an unfamiliar buzz. Randall is chief operator in this Signal outfit.

It's not a war story, but a machine gun. Col. Watson, friend to us all, has become Clemson famous with his war stories in the infantry.

What is it? An oversized Bendix? No this again is an implement of war with its complexity.

SIX WEEKS

R.O.T.C. SUM

Watch out Peebles . . . There's that sergeant. This was that scorcher in July when the QM campers were experimenting.

Ready on the right . . . remember camp. That shell can really lose its course in 200 yards.

Up at 4:15 to get out on the range . . . what fun we left behind. Water, water everywhere and not a drop to drink.

Now find your way back with a map and compass. No it was faster to follow an old beaten down trail . . . or was it?

OF HELL

MER CAMP

These were the days of Fort Benning, the rain, the mud, and the hot sun . . . and that's not all.

The troops getting the poop from headquarters . . . hoping to get some sleep before dawn.

This is all a part of summer camp. Sometimes it's hard to believe without evidence.

Lunsford looks like he's been elected best camper . . . or was he thinking of life in Charlotte.

Littlejohn could move over but then he'd miss the picture. It wasn't Hollywood.

Awards are given at Mother's Day including the Outstanding Quartermaster student, rifle team medals, and best drilled cadets of the three lower classes.

MOTHER'S DAY AND SPRING INSPECTION

As the second semester approaches each year, we become cognizant of our annual spring inspection and our Mothers' Day festivities. Long and arduous drills and ceremonial practices become a part of the regular routine. The superlatives in individual, squad, platoon, and company are chosen for the honors to be presented at Mothers' Day. The drum and bugle corps begins its drill at reveille. With the many superior ratings of the past, the corps never becomes cocky or over-confident with its excellence but strives ever to maintain a merit rating for the alma mater.

THE ANNUAL CLIMAX OF THE CORPS

Honorary Cadet Colonel Byrd and Colonel Cadet Lytle review the troops before a crowd of 25,000.

Upper: The "Star Spangled Banner" is played.
Lower: A typical picnic at Mothers' Day.

The superlatives take the much-deserved honors after much sweat and work.

The Colonels inspect the brass at the annual spring inspection

A member of the D. A. R. presents the Norris Medal to Cadet Colonel Brice E. Lytle as the outstanding Clemson cadet.

Many salutes were given and returned at the spring inspection in the sultry sun of May.

The superlatives are reviewed by the cadet corps as they are presented with their honors backed by months of hard work. Families and friends look on in the background.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

POLISHED BRASS

Scabbard and Blade is a national honorary military fraternity recognized all over the country as "tops" in schools of military organization. It is composed of men who have proved themselves to be the best as far as the military is concerned.

Theirs has not been an easy life, for they, as the idols of the cadet corps, endeavored to discipline, drill, and instruct men who some day may hold positions of office in the Army of the United States. It is to these men that we look in times of emergency and it is to them that due recognition should be given in these days of peace.

B. J. PERRY

It's a great day when the Senior Platoon departs to far away places to demonstrate some crack drilling. This year found them in many cities, including New York, Mobile, and Jacksonville. As an instrument of publicity, and who is adverse to publicity, the Platoon rivals any group on the campus. This refers to favorable publicity, of course.

No worldly gains accompany the honor of being selected to represent Clemson in this manner, only pride in their school and a love of perfection spur these men on. Each year, in the spring, rising seniors are selected for their perfection in drill. They practice for weeks during every spare hour to prepare for the fall parades. It is then that their self-discipline bears fruit.

GO BETWEENS

This exclusive club embraces the middlemen of the R.O.T.C. Their superiors issue the orders and they take the blame.

The executive sergeants are tapped in the fall and again in the spring. Membership is limited to the sergeant majors and first sergeants of the regiment.

Their duties include the compiling of daily reports and the announcing of the daily orders and details. Meetings are held monthly to discuss military problems and their solution.

It includes all of the Senior R.O.T.C. Schools in the Southwest. Other active units are located at the University of Tennessee, Louisiana State University, the University of Alabama, and the Georgia School of Technology.

Pershing Rifles, formed in 1892 by John J. Pershing, is a national honorary military society organized for the purpose of encouraging, preserving, and developing the highest ideals of the military profession, and to provide appropriate recognition of a degree of military ability among the various Senior Reserve Officer Training Corps units.

In Company C-4, the active campus unit, sophomore cadets who stand out in a competitive drill get their chance to be properly noticed. The Pershing riflemen drill weekly using the old-style drill until they can perform in their sleep. When they become juniors in class they automatically become inactive members.

PUTTING THE YEAR IN REVIEW

The work is over and the 1949 staff can sit back and breathe a sigh of relief for theirs is feeling of deep satisfaction. In these pages have gone the personalities, philosophies, and idealogies of the men who have produced a college annual. Granted that there are mistakes, but where in human nature is there no mistake?

Appointed to their respective positions on the Senior staff in the Spring of 1948, after a year's service on the Junior staff, these men immediately began the layout and made their plans accordingly.

The entire job was done by the men on these pages. Theirs was a difficult task as they endeavored to complete the work of an undergraduate as well as produce the Taps.

It's all over now but the shouting and we hope that you will restrain your shouting as you realize the difficulties under which this work was done. However, here it is. Needless to say we are proud of our accomplishment.

WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE?

"The Tiger", truly the voice of the Clemson student body, ends its forty-second year of publication. No other group of students on the campus deserves more praise than do these men. Theirs is a job that never ceases, for as soon as one edition is out, the next is being planned. Monday and Tuesday nights find the staff slavishly preparing copy. Wednesday is for the linotype, Thursday night lends itself to the actual distribution of the paper, and all the rest of the week goes into plans for the next issue.

To no form of censorship by the faculty or administration is the Tiger subjected. This has by no means detracted from the quality of the publication as it may boast of "All American" honors as rated by the National Scholastic Press Association.

The Agrarian

PLOW-BOY JOURNAL

Published by students in the School of Agriculture, the "Agrarian" is recognized as the oldest technical magazines on the campus. It also has the largest circulation of all campus magazines.

The content of the "Agrarian" consists mainly of technical ideas and theories of the rapidly advancing field of agriculture. Features of local interest are also included.

All the work of publication is done by the students, and staff members are trained by the preceding staff.

SPINNING A YARN

Ten years ago the Iota Chapter of the Phi Psi fraternity started something it couldn't finish, so it has been going on ever since—the "Bobbin and Beaker".

The "Bobbin and Beaker" is the official journal of the Textile School. The purpose of the magazine is to integrate the textile industry, the textile school, and the textile student.

Its contributors include men of industry as well as students, with the result that its articles are both informative and up to date.

DESIGN IN PROGRESS

One of the best technical magazines in the state of South Carolina is the "Slipstick", official publication of the School of Engineering at Clemson.

Edited by a group of senior students, the magazine contains technical material, and items of news and features of local interest.

The "Slipstick" is edited four times each school year and the entire publication is done by members of the student staff. An advisory board composed of faculty members is always at hand to offer helpful hints and advice.

INFORMATION, PLEASE

Published annually by the Clemson Chapter of Blue Key Directory. The directory contains a roster of the students, giving class, major course, college address, and home address. Faculty and administrative officials are also listed with information as to their positions and formal education background.

A roster of each cadet company and a list of all recognized clubs, fraternities, and publications are also included.

A GUIDE TO CLEMSON

Published annually by a student committee, which is appointed by the "Y" cabinet, the YMCA Handbook has proved itself to be a valuable source of information for those who would acquaint themselves with the activities of Clemson.

The handbook, distributed at the beginning of each school year is published primarily for the purpose of informing freshmen with a knowledge of campus activities, but is utilized by upperclassmen and faculty as well.

McLaurin, Foster, Sheally, Wiggins, MacGregor, and R. O. are sitting on top of the world. Their work is done and they can congratulate each other now.

Gamma Alpha Mu

L. D. REYNOLDS
President

1949 marks the sixteenth of Gamma Alpha Mu's activity on the Clemson campus. Since its membership is based primarily on a man's literary ability, you will find among its members many who are active workers on the student publications.

Any member of Gamma Alpha Mu is unquestionably a writer or poet of some merit, for one must submit a sample of his work to Octavus Roy Cohen for judgment.

It is through the efforts of Professor John D. Lane that this reward for talented writers exists.

Tau Kappa Alpha

The Tau Kappa Alpha, a national honorary leadership and forensic society, was founded in Indianapolis, Indiana, on May 18, 1908, for the purpose of inspiring interest in forensics among honor students.

It now has 105 active chapters of which the Clemson chapter is the latest.

The local charter was organized in 1948 by seven charter members. To become a member of the Tau Kappa Alpha, a student must rank in the upper thirty-five per cent. of his class scholastically and have completed at least two years of college. In addition to this, the student must have for two years participated creditably in the forensic programs of the college.

The cast of "Madamoiselle Modiste" congregates for the grand finale. Musicals are always a good excuse for lavish costumes—and good music, and "M'amselle" had both.

Suspense! Everybody joins hands as Madam Arcotti (Venita Robison) calls the plays. They're trying to bring Elvira back for her appearance in "Blithe Spirit". Jack Trescott is the harassed husband.

Clemson's oldest organization, The Calhoun Forensic Society, had its beginning way back in 1894. Many of our state politicians learned the rudiments of public speaking through the efforts of this organization. Debating is still the primary purpose of the society and its influence on the lives of Clemson men is profound.

Debates are conducted throughout the year and are attended by community folk as well as students, both of whom come away with the feeling of an evening well spent.

THE ARTISTS

BRILLIANT STARS AT THEIR BEST

Deep within every person, no matter what type he may profess to be, is the love of music. To give students the opportunity to enjoy music at its best, the Clemson Concert Series each year selects top-ranking artists to perform.

Among the great artists chosen to appear this year were such luminaries as Risë Stevens, glamorous opera and motion picture star; the Robert Shaw Chorale; Eugene Ormandy conducting the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra; the First Piano Quartet; and Jascha Heifetz and his violin.

Everyone, including the college and high school students, professors and their wives, and people from the surrounding localities, flocks to the concerts. Who could resist the sight of Risë Stevens singing selections from "Carmen" or the melodious strains of the First Piano Quartet?

For the students especially, the concerts give relief from the daily grind of studying. After a few hours spent listening to music that is "out of this world", they are ready to plough back into the textbooks.

The Concert Series was perfectly arranged for last year and we expect equally fine entertainment next season.

Risë Stevens, lovely opera and motion picture star, came to town and Clemson's concert attendance reached an all-time high.

The First Piano Quartet discuss a score of music which will be included in their program. The very best in music is procured for Clemson's concert series and they rank high on the list.

Heifetz, recognized as one of the masters of the violin, performed at Clemson last Spring. His appearance was favored with enthusiasm.

During the school year the students look forward to the concerts presented by the Glee Club. Shortly before the Christmas holidays the Glee Club produces its annual Christmas pageant, which is enjoyed by everyone in the community.

As the years go by, the Glee Club hopes to gain in experience and technique until it can rival any Glee Club in the South.

Since its organization in 1941, the Brigadiers, one of two dance bands at Clemson, has made quite a name for itself. Playing for off-campus activities, this orchestra has come to be known as one of the best and smoothest college bands in the South.

Musical talent and ability are prerequisites for entrance; those students possessing both, by proof of audition, are invited to join.

Self-sufficiency has been established and the orchestra now owns all of its own instruments, as well as its own touring bus, "Jezebel", against which no words of violence may be uttered.

Aero Club

WINGS FOR ALL

Wherever men congregate, some are bound to be interested in aviation. Such is the case at Clemson. Last year the Aero Club was organized for the purpose of providing students flying time at a price within their reach. At present the club has twenty members. New members don't even have to be able to fly—that's another purpose of the club. They'll learn!

Meetings are held every two weeks in a room at the airport. The boys buy a share in a plane together. Cross-country runs and short hops are made during good flying weather. Each man is allowed approximately one hour on scheduled days. During the summer another group of men band together and rent a plane for a few days at the time. The club observes its own safety regulations.

J. D. GAULT
President

Where there's an aerial there's a "ham". Clemson's Radio Club was in operation before the war, but was temporarily disbanded along with many other activities. In 1946, J. C. Martin, of the Electrical Engineering Department, again formed the club; and it's membership has grown from ten to thirty.

The only requirement to membership is an interest in amateur radio work with an objective of acquiring an amateur license. The club boasts of five licensed members. The "hams" have their own radio room in the sixth barracks which they have recently overhauled. The radio room harbors the Clemson College radio station, licensed as W 4 ETP.

Every other Monday evening the members meet in the code room to practice taking code. As soon as arrangements can be made, the club plans to join the South Carolina Emergency network.

Radio Forum

"You can cut off, Frank, the mike's dead." One of the newer campus organizations, the Clemson College Student Forum of the Air, has as its purpose broadcasting news and views of the schools, the departments, the extension service, and the experiment station.

The forum was born early in the first semester of the year in the mind of Frank "Skipper" Seddon. It has a hard-working membership which is limited to fifteen-odd for efficiency purposes, and which is composed of administrative officials, program directors, script writers, and narrators.

Turn the radio on, get that station, quick! It's the radio forum; they're on the air, bringing you the voice of Clemson. If you haven't heard the latest you'll hear it now. They specialize in anything from peanuts to pink elephants.

Square and Compass

W. H. STARNES
President

Clemson has many societies and organizations on her campus, but one of the type of the Square and Compass is always welcome. The Square and Compass has been unofficially active for about a year and one-half. It became affiliated with the college officially in September, 1948.

The object of the organization is to promote better understanding among the Clemson students who are Master Masons. The degree of Master Mason is the requirement to membership.

During the past two years the organization has sponsored Christmas gifts for the children at the Shriners' hospital in Greenville, S. C.

Ray Mathews brought further laurels to Clemson by winning the Southern Conference scoring crown. The honors were completed with Bob Martin winning the Jacobs trophy as the best blocker in the state.

Fred Cone led the Bengal scoring parade with two touchdowns. Other six-pointers were added by Mathews, Windham, Williams, Rushton, and Carol Cox. The game served as experience for the reserves as Coach Howard cleared the entire bench.

The Tigers and the Wolf Pack put on one of the most thrilling spectacles ever witnessed at Tigertown. The feature of the game was a ninety-yard punt return by Bobby Gage. Gage received the punt on the Clemson ten-yard line, faked to Cone, picked up a host of blockers and literally outran the State Secondary. The Tiger defense refused to bulge throughout the game. In the waning minutes of the game Clemson took the ball on downs on the six-inch line.

Tom Salisbury scored the first Bengal touchdown by blocking a McWilliam's punt. The other scores came on passes from Gage to Poulos and Mathews, the latter covering sixty yards. Jack Miller added the three extra points. State's only score came by virtue of a recovered fumble and a pass.

The Tigers had to come from behind to defeat the Gamecocks in the annual State Fair game. Carolina jumped to an early lead when Hagan passed to Wilson for a tally. Carol Cox scored first for the Tigers on a lateral from Cone. However, the payoff came with only four minutes left to play. Phil Prince blocked a Gamecock punt and Oscar Thompson ran it over for a touchdown. The Miller combination added the extra point and that was the ball game.

"Schoolboy" Gage's stretch for yardage might be termed a flying Tiger in action. Good for a first down and mighty Clemson moves on.

Another reverse and Mathews sweeps end for thirty-five yards. The Gamecocks just couldn't tell who had the ball as Clemson's deceptive single wing once again came through.

The most spectacular play of the night was a fifty yard pass from Gage to Mathews. Boston College fought back in the last quarter as Songhin passed for two touchdowns. The Tiger line play was the best of the season as the Eagle ground attack failed to click.

Where you goin', fellow? This is just another example of the impregnancy of Clemson's forward wall. Here the Eagles were forced to take to the air.

The Furman eleven was unable to penetrate the strong Tiger defense on the ground or through the air. Clemson rolled up 448 yards rushing as the rumors of a bowl bid filled the air. Mathews was the leading scorer with three touchdowns. Cone, Poulos and Cox added the other six-pointers.

A bowl bid makes any team's season complete, win or lose. It was only fitting that the undefeated Tigers received a bid to play The University of Missouri in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Florida.

The Tiger superiority began to show in the first period when Cone smashed over for the initial score of the game. Late in the same period Clemson marched 61 yards for another score. Again it was Cone powering his way over for the touchdown. Missouri came roaring back in the second period to score two touchdowns and tie the game up again.

Missouri fought back with another tally, but Clemson still led 24-23 and the game ended a few plays later. Thus the Tigers ended a successful season as one of the two undefeated untied powers in the nation.

As a fitting tribute to his outstanding performance and expert signal calling, Bobby Gage was awarded the Burkhalter Memorial trophy as the most outstanding player of the game.

The 1949 Tiger courtmen lacked the reserves that would have won many of the games that were lost by narrow margins. Fate dealt the Bengals another blow when Captain June Pruitt was injured early in the season and forced him to miss six games.

Clemson dropped the first three games before finding the victory trail against Wofford 49-44. The Tigers won only two games out of the next five, defeating The Citadel 65-39 and Wofford 61-59 in a thriller. Bolstered by several members of the football team the Bengals dropped a close game to Furman and the following week defeated a favored Wake Forest five 59-57. The McFaddenmen next dropped a pair to Carolina and a single contest to Davidson.

The Tigers bounced back into the win column with a 63-44 victory over The Citadel.

As this book goes to press the Tigers have seven games remaining on the schedule.

The Tigers started the 1948 season handicapped by the loss of many key players from the 1947 Southern Championship team. Despite lack of experience the Bengals enjoyed a better than average season.

After dropping six games out of the first eight, Clemson bounced back in the win column and wound up with twelve wins against ten losses and one tie. The brightest part of the season was the annual series with Carolina during which the Tigers won three out of four.

Captain Frank Gillespie was chosen as one of the eighteen most valuable players in the Southern Conference. Gillespie along with the bulk of the team will return next season.

With a large squad returning the Tigers appeared to be as strong as any team in the Southern Conference. The Bengals lived up to pre-season expectations by winning all of the dual meets but one.

Clemson opened the season by rolling over P. C. Highlighting the victory was the impressive time of 2:3.7 turned in by Pulkinen in the 880-yard dash. The Tigers followed up with wins over Furman and Wofford. The Tigers could not stop Carolina's Rucks as he set two track marks in leading the Gamecocks to victory. The following week the Tigers downed a stubborn team from Davidson. The annual State Meet was almost identical with that of last year as Carolina nosed out Clemson 60 7/24 to 53 3/8.

The team did not participate in the Southern Conference tournament as a unit. Jerry Brown won the conference title in the pole vault.

BLOCK-BUSTERS

Here are the real athletes of Clemson. These men are the active participants of at least one of the major sports. Included in this roster of major sports are football, baseball, track, and basketball. Proud indeed are the men who wear the orange "C" for they have earned this right.

Not only have they proved superiority on the individual fields of athletics but they have undergone an initiation that is unparalleled in "all out roughness" at Clemson.

Many interesting and moneypaying projects have been conducted by the Block "C" at Clemson, which include movies of games, intramural boxing bouts, etc.

The credit goes to the Clemson spirit and the excellent coaching staff now located on the campus. Superior athletic accomplishments are the best way of advertising a college's name and this past year's "Gator Bowl" champions have indeed done their part in spreading the name of Clemson throughout the nation.

GOLF TEAM

BOB CHAPMAN
Captain

The 1948 Tiger links team enjoyed another successful season under the capable guidance of Coach Bob Jones. The only two defeats of the season were inflicted by South Carolina and The Citadel. This stopped a brilliant winning streak of thirty-seven consecutive matches. The Tigers quickly resumed winning and later avenged these defeats. The Bengals closed the season with a 14 to 4 win over South Carolina after having defeated The Citadel 13½ to 5½. Clemson thus wound up a brilliant season with a record of seventeen wins against only two losses.

The prospects for next year are bright as the majority of this year's team will return.

All you have to do is keep your eye on the ball, swing, and follow through. Stan Halliday demonstrates.

A long putt heads for the cup as the caddy holds the pin. The ball just stopped short.

Selfridge lines up the ball as Halliday and Delk stand by. Practice makes perfect.

Bell, Koophman, Selfridge, Delk, Chapman, Halliday, and Connell practice the fundamentals under the supervision of Coach Jones.

TENNIS TEAM

The 1948 tennis team had a record of nine wins against seven defeats. Paced by several veteran players from last year's squad the Tigers won the first five starts before dropping a 4-3 match to the College of Charleston. After dropping two close matches the Bengals bounced back to defeat a favored Wake Forest team 8 to 1.

The Tigers held other victories over Erskine, Furman, Wofford, The Citadel, and Newberry. Defeats were dealt the Bengals by Emory, South Carolina, Rollins, Stetson, and The University of Florida.

The prospects for next season have been lowered by the loss of several key players. However, with the addition of several new men Coach Hoke Sloan should field a good squad.

RIFLE TEAM

Commence firing! These words signify that a shoulder to shoulder rifle match is about to begin. The Tiger marksmen have won two out of the three matches that have been fired. In addition to the shoulder to shoulder matches the bengals have won several telegraphic matches. The team is composed of many of last year's members and is coached by Captains P. M. Anderson and G. E. Coakley assisted by Sergeant E. L. Cox. With this fine array of coaches and experience the Tigers should win the majority of the remaining matches.

SWIMMING TEAM

The 1949 Tiger tankmen face a tough schedule with a team that is handicapped by inexperience. With the majority of last year's team lost by graduation the Tigers fell before a strong Georgia team in the opening meet of the season. An experienced Emory team handed the Bengals another setback the following week.

Meets are scheduled with teams from the state later on and with the experience gained the Tigers will be strong favorites to take the state title.

THE MINOR "C" CLUB

The minor "C" club consist of men who have made letters in one or more of the minor sports. Included in this category are golf, tennis, swimming, cheerleading and the rifle team. The minor "C" club was first organized to help further the interest in the minor sports at Clemson. Since then it has grown into a major organization with some of Clemson's greatest athletes having passed through its roster.

Everybody ready. There's nothing like a good game of volleyball for recreation.

SPORTS

IT'S ANYBODY'S GAME

Under the sponsorship of the Y. M. C. A. the students of Clemson are allowed to compete in athletics under the intramural program. Teams are formed from the pre-fabs and the various barracks to compete in touch football, basketball, tennis, volleyball and softball.

The championships of each sport are decided at the end of each season when the playoffs are staged. Keys are awarded to the members of each winning team.

Intramural sports provide an opportunity for the students to engage in physical activity outside the classrooms. The program is under the constant supervision of Mr. Roy Cooper of the "Y" who has donated his time and effort toward its advancement.

Throw that ball. A man breaks into the clear on a pass play. The play was good for twenty yards. Here the rules are tougher as the play is dead when the man with the ball is touched.

Slide brother, slide. The runner just beats the ball to the plate. Softball is one of the favorite intramural sports at Clemson, and many fine teams are entered from the various barracks.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Baptist Student Union coordinates the numerous activities of the largest church organization at Clemson. The number of Baptist students at the present time now numbers somewhere around thirteen hundred men. To "keep tab" on so many students must certainly be difficult, but the Rev. A. Harold Cole, minister, with the assistance of J. L. Spangenberg, minister to students and chairman of student programs, somehow manage to do a wonderful job in this department.

The services of the Baptist Church, which includes Sunday school, training union, morning watch, prayer meets, worship, and special services such as the Union Sunrise Thanksgiving, the Candelighting at Christmas, and The Lord's Supper at Easter, produce the desired effect in the spiritual growth of students. At the same time many interesting and informative programs are presented at Wednesday night meetings of the B. S. U., which develop the personalities and social sides of the student.

CANTERBURY CLUB

Representing the Episcopal students at Clemson is the Canterbury Club of the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church. Under the inspiring guidance of the Rev. Emmett Gribbin, who is winding up his first year at Clemson, the club has made much progress in its two-fold purpose of advancing fellowship and spiritual feeling and learning to its members. A member of the club takes an active part in the functions of the State Association. Plans are being made to stage the '49 statewide Canterbury Convention here at Clemson at the time of this writing.

A self-supporting organization, by virtue of the sale of Christmas cards which are designed, printed, and sold by members, is the Canterbury Club of Clemson.

Religion, educational, and entertaining movies are shown at various meetings of the club. Interesting and informative speakers are invited in to present programs of interest and enjoyment. Supper meetings and informal dances also find their places on the agenda of the club.

HILLEL-BRANDEIS CLUB

The Hillel-Brandeis Club owes its existence to a group which was active before the war called the Brandeis Club. This organization is composed of those Jewish students who would gather to further spiritual advancement, social achievement, and all-round fellowship of the club as a whole. Like so many of Clemson's clubs and fraternities, Hillel-Brandeis was inactive during the war, but in 1946 was reorganized and was soon operating at full steam.

Having chapters throughout the country, the Hillel foundation is located on and recognized by the leading campuses of the nation.

Many interesting programs are presented throughout the year in which interesting speakers are invited, current events are discussed and debated upon, quiz programs of various types are given, and many other programs of student interest are presented.

Like all other religious clubs Hillel-Brandeis meets on each Wednesday night. Lacking a chapel the meetings are conducted in the "Y" clubroom.

LUTHERAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

PRESTON S. SHEALY
President

The Lutheran Students Association deserves a great deal of credit for its active participation as a member of the church groups here at Clemson. Lacking a chapel, these men meet in the Barracks' Chapel on each Wednesday night and The Rev. B. M. Clark from Walhalla, advisor of the club, holds regular services on each second and fourth Sundays at 9:00 a. m. in club room number one of the Y. M. C. A.

The primary motive of the L. S. A. is the development of fellowship among students. This fellowship is furthered by the interesting and informative programs presented in the form of interesting speakers, informal discussions of current topics of interest and their relation to religion and everyday life, and social functions of various types.

One of the foremost aims of the club is the construction of a chapel here on the Clemson campus.

NEWMAN CLUB

Meeting each night in the number one clubroom of the Y. M. C. A. we find the Newman Club. The Newman Club is the religious organization of the Catholic students on the Clemson campus. The club was first organized at Clemson in 1940 by Father T. F. Tierney. All Catholic students are invited to join and a large percentage are active members and take part in the activities of the Newman Club. Members also participate in the work of the choir and the athletic teams sponsored by the club.

The primary goals of the Newman Club are to promote the spiritual life of the student, to develop fellowship among members, and to aid in the social development of each individual student. Under the direction of Rev. John M. Donelon much has been achieved in following the ideals of these important goals.

Many interesting programs are presented throughout the year to further interest and attendance for the regular meetings of the Newman Club.

PRESBYTERIAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

One of the more active church organizations on the campus is the P. S. A. To those who have trouble with abbreviations, P. S. A. stands for the Presbyterian Student Association. Here, under the guidance of The Rev. S. J. L. Crouch, a link is formed between the students and the church which is invaluable in later life.

The primary purpose of this organization are spiritual growth and social development. The church, religious programs, and the spiritual atmosphere furnish the spiritual growth desired. Friendly fellowship, social functions, including girls from nearby schools and all-round "bull sessions", help build personalities, for which Clemson men have always been noted.

Many interesting programs in the form of world-traveled speakers, forums, round table discussions, and supper meetings, help to increase membership and attendance. The informal air of the club produces an opportunity for members to form life-long attachments and friendships which may contribute to the enrichment of their entire lives.

WESLEY FOUNDATION COUNCIL

ROBERT F. WIGGINS
President

The Wesley Foundation furnishes an opportunity for Methodist students to work together in Christian fellowship. All Methodist students on the campus are members and are urged to attend meetings and social functions of the organization. All activities are under the direction of the minister, the Rev. E. W. Hardin.

One of the largest church groups on the campus, The Wesley Foundation continually has a large turnout of students and local members of the Methodist faith.

The chief purposes of the Wesley Foundation are to furnish the students an opportunity to serve others and to work together in fellowship and friendship.

Many interesting programs are presented throughout the year. As in the other church groups, speakers are invited in, group forums are conducted, quiz programs are presented, and many other types of programs are offered for the general information and entertainment of the members.

Officers: R. F. WIGGINS, President; F. L. LANCASTER, Vice-President; W. T. ASHLEY, Vice-President: L. A. CARSON, Vice-President; E. H. PITTMAN, Secretary; A. J. BANKS, Treasurer; J. G. LESLEY, Social Chairman; P. C. DAVIS, Editor of "Retreat Bugle"; H. N. BLACK, Publicity Chairman; J. A. NEVES, Chairman of World Service; T. L. MONROE, Deputation Chairman.

Dave Coakley can add another Sunday to his church attendance. It could be Giles Lewis bringing up the rear. Don't shove, Taylor, there'll be room for you, too!

Oh, these proud fathers! They never miss a chance to show off their progeny. Well, you can't blame them.

A FEW OF THE REGULAR ATTENDERS

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hunter, of Clemson's young set, pause for a moment on their way home from church. Run along now.

Eat, drink, and be merry! Only a rat would have time to squander so blissfully on his social obligations. Love that hair!

BOOKS OF DISTINCTION SINCE 1844

We old "Forty-niners" just prospected around until we hit on a '49 Taps. That's easily said, but it's not quite the whole story. Instead of pick-axes and shovels, we worked with typewriters and drawing instruments. In the end it entailed just as much effort, but the worst is over and we are happy to present the '49 Taps. Hope you like it.

In conclusion, the staff of Taps wishes to acknowledge the contributions of several persons through whose efforts this book profited considerably. They are the men behind the scenes who, although their hands may not be apparent, offered of their advice and skill freely.

The staff wishes to extend its appreciation to John Califf, who generously surrendered his time whenever called upon for assistance; Hamilton Hill, to whom we are indebted for business advice; Bob Davis of The R. L. Bryan Company, for his hearty cooperation in the printing of the book; Walt Dargan, of the Photo Process Company, for the excellent photo-processing and engraving which distinguishes Taps; and Marion Ware of Gaspar-Ware Studios, whose patience and skill are responsible for the quality of the individual class portraits.

We sincerely hope that our combined efforts have produced a Taps which will prove a steady source of pleasure to you throughout the years to come.

Well, we'll be hitting the trail, so take over, staff of '50, and the best of luck to you!

The Forty-Nine Staff

Jack—

It really has been sweet knowing you for the past three years. I know of ~~two~~ no one I had rather run around with than you. No kidding buddy, it has been fine.

When you go down to Columbus this summer to work don't forget that our friendship has not ended just because you are out of school. I think we could still think of some way to make some easy money.

Jack I know everything with you and that little girl in Atlanta will turn out O.K.

Well, buddy when you get to be a big wheel with your name on that letter head don't forget me—

Jack

"Ole' Lady",

I sure have enjoyed rooming with you this year. As I recall, we have had many "bull" sessions and much fun. I hope you have all the luck in the world at Columbus in your new work and for "goodness sake" don't forget all about me. I hope you have had as much fun this year in our room as I have and maybe I can get another to buy some of those towels. Incidentally, watch your step son, you're marrying age now.

See ya in the future,

Harry

Dear Jack,
I am enjoying the same company with you
as the past three years.
For I have a well grounded faith in you & what ever
you may do in life.
Yours Truly

JACK

THANKS FOR EVERYTHING THESE LAST 4 SEMSTERS. I'M VERY FORTUNATE IN HAVING A FRIEND LIKE YOU. BEST OF LUCK TO YOU.
